Lounge renovations

Design plans are well on their way to completion this year, due to a change in plans, but final construction will be completed by the March term. Don Jones, Dean of the Kellogg School of Business, announced that the Kellogg School of Business plans to renovate the lounge area, which is located in the Kellogg School of Business building, and which is the area that is currently used.

Aerial at Conestoga

Travis' comedy and technical problems were the main reason for Thursday's pop with aerial.

After a five-hour, 45-minute show, it was a surprise when the band began to play. The band began to play a song called "The Bridge," a 15-minute song that made the band look like they were in a whole new world.

With the new addition of bass player John McVie, Aerial played a show in the band's new and old. And despite the fact that the band was in a whole new world, the band was in a whole new world.

Condors 72 - Niagara 60

Condors make playoffs with win over Niagara

The Greater Toronto Condors started a playoff with a 72-60 win over the Niagara Rapids in a game played last Wednesday at the Oshawa Civic Centre.

The first half was a struggle for the Condors. They led 15-10 in the only half and were trailing 30-24 at Niagara's 15-minute timeout. The game started out slowly, but the Condors found their stride during the second half and rebounded well.

But a series of errors by Oshawa got Niagara's right back on the game. The Rapids played well in the second half and secured the Condors' loss when they made a series of errors. The game ended in a 72-60 victory for the Condors. Oshawa made three errors in the last 10 minutes of the game, but Niagara's win would mean they would have to play in the playoffs. At the end of the first half, Oshawa led Niagara 31-15.

The second half proved to be a struggle for both teams, and the game ended in a 72-60 victory for the Condors. The game was played at the Oshawa Civic Centre.

Condors won the game. The Rapids were a playoff team and the Condors kept on playing up the ball. The Condors kept their lead.

- Feb. 19 - Women's Volleyball at Fanshawe, in London
- Feb. 21 - Varsity Men's Volleyball The Year national at Fanshawe, in North Bay

Athlete of the week

Ron Clayton, a student at Fanshawe College, was named the Athlete of the Week for the week of February 1 to 5. Clayton, a second-year marketing student, plays basketball for the school.

Clayton has played basketball all his life, starting with minor hockey leagues in his home town of Oshawa. This is his second year with the Condors. Clayton also plays basketball and golf and enjoys fishing.

The Condors season is over for this year, but the Condors played a playoff game last year. It was a good game, but we didn't get in together in the right time. I'm looking forward to playing next year. - Ron Clayton
